Bernita Anderson

The body of Miss Bernita Phyllis Anderson was found in the ocean near Whaler's Cove, Point Lobos State Park, on Tuesday. She had been missing since Monday morning, when a note was found in her room at the Carmel Meadows home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alf C. Anderson, stating she was unhappy and "the sea is a wonderful healer."

Miss Anderson was born on November 10, 1928, in Sacramento. She was a graduate of the University of California and a registered nurse. She came here six months ago from Los Angeles, and was associated with the Monterey County Health Department, making her home with her parents who survive her. She also leaves a brother Alf C. Anderson Jr. of Carmel Meadows.

wiring. State school department fire marshal and Carmel Fire Marshall Robert Leidig checked the auditorium several years ago, and their recommendations were carried out except for a sprinkler system. Carmel Fire Chief Bob Smith, inspecting the premises last week, recommended a red-light alarm system instead.

The board and Superintendent Mitchell are inclined to doubt the seriousness of Mr. Nix's charges; nevertheless, they have seen to it that the Youth Center's Christmas Follies production will be under strict professional supervision.

Mr. Nix's letter:

Dear Sirs:
May I respectfully call your attention to several vitally important factors concerning Sunset Auditorium, which as a resident of Carmel, and as a producer, I feel deserve the immediate attention of the board if the safety of school children at Sunset, and the reputation of Carmel as a cultural center are not to suffer perhaps irreparable damage.

1. That the present condition of the Sunset stage is so hazardous as to comprise a threat to the life and limb of children who use it, notably for band practices and school plays.

a. Some of the electrical equipment is defective, physically dangerous to use and consti-

Dudley Nix' Charges Initiate Check On Sunset Auditorium

A letter from Dudley Nix, charging that Sunset stage is unsafe, was read at the school board meeting Tuesday night. Mr. Nix is the producer of the Nutcracker Ballet and repertory plays.

There is danger of a heavy weight falling on the children on the stage, and the lighting system is a fire hazard, Mr. Nix said.

The board asked Superintendent Mitchell to investigate. Mr. Mitchell has asked City Building Inspector Floyd Adams to check the

A jazz quartet of Keith Kneeder, Bruce Bennett, Terry Dun and Jim Zoellin will play Canadian Sunset. Allen Baker will give his version of White Christmas.

The 25th Platoon Scout Dogs from Fort Ord will bring several dogs and their trainers to demonstrate their ability to obey all commands. A trio of Andy Gray, Joe Mason and Art Wilkerson will render a medley of songs.

The show will close with Donna Sands doing a ballet to Angie, The Christmas Tree Angel. At the conclusion of her routine she will use her magic wand to light up ten live Christmas trees who will dance to the Skaters' Waltz. The Trees, aglow with 150 lights, will be: Sue Bestor, Mary Angier, Nancy Nielsen, Kay Wilson, Diane Weaver, Stevie Craviotto, Shirley Cutler, Gale Clark, Sue Feldman, and Eli Iverson.

Lighting effects are by Malcolm Burdis, Robin Way, Tim Smith and Reed Putnam. Backstage crew will be Frank Treat, Donna Douglas, Gerry Byrne, Joan Engle.

Choreography is by Joanne Nix. John Farr directs the Glee Club. Costumes are designed by Connie Paddleford. Music is being taped by Mausita Jennings. Jack Belangee is in charge of the sound system and directors are Bonnie and Jack Giles.

20-Minute Time Zones "1st Step"

Last night, in a special committee meeting, the city council "took first steps" in the words of Mayor Horace Lyon, to alleviate the "parking problem," though Councilman Francis Whitaker said there isn't any parking problem in winter, and in summer there is so much of it that the city can't hope to eliminate it.

Nevertheless, Mr. Whitaker went along with the mayor and other councilmen co-operatively in working out the "first steps" which are: one 20-minute parking slot (green zone) to be spotted at the end of each block in the one-hour parking area on the traffic flow side of the street. For example, on Ocean between San Carlos and Dolores Streets there will be a green zone in front of the Bank of Carmel but not in front of Kips; one in front of the Corner Cupboard but not in front of Fortier's.

The council also decided to reduce two-hour parking to one on San Carlos between Fifth and Seventh; Mission between Fifth and Ocean, and increase one-hour parking to two on Dolores Street north of Fifth, but to have three green zones on both sides of the street just north of the intersection of Fifth and Dolores.

The loading zone in front of Carmel Grocery, Dolores between Ocean and Seventh, is to be increased in length and the one across the street eliminated. The present two slots do not provide sufficient space for the big delivery truck and trailers to get out of the way of traffic. The loading zone on Sixth avenue at the rear of the old Walt Pilot Market is to be eliminated, as no longer necessary, and an additional one added at the Thrift Market. A loading zone at the old Plaza Fuel office is also to be eliminated.

The council commented unfavorably on the Business Association traffic committee's recommendation on making Junipero Street a time limit parking area: "We have to have some place for the 'all day sleepers'." One council member commented, "We don't want them in the residence zone, where residents won't be able to find space for their guests to park in front of their homes."

The mayor emphasized that last night's decisions were "simply first steps" and asked City Clerk Larry Rose to inform the business association traffic committee to that effect, also that final action on these "first steps" wouldn't be taken until the regular meeting January 9.

Business of a special council meeting before the committee session:

Council authorized Police Commissioner John Chitwood to buy a new police car (Chevrolet) for $1213.33. This is $26 higher than lowest bid but included seat covers. Chief of Police Clyde Klauermann asked if the council wanted to establish a policy on color of police cars. Did they want a standard color, such as pink. No, council wanted different colors for each new car, but make sure they are gay and pretty. The present car is pink. Baby blue, gold or Nile green would be indicated for its companion.

Expenditure not to exceed $400 was authorized to improve plumbing and lighting in the Forest Theatre; the Forest Theatre Guild to donate some of the labor and the work to be done under the supervision of Building Superintendent Floyd Adams.

It was discovered that the census will cost more than the anticipated $672; Council appropriated $1150.

Council approved mayor's appointment of Mrs. Douglas MacGregor to replace Mrs. Gladys

MERRY CHRISTMAS

The above is a line cut of the original manuscript of a carol written for this Christmas issue by Pine Cone music reviewer, Mary Lindsay-Oliver.

The Madonna on the cover is the work of Monterey painter, Sam Harris, who did the memorable 35th anniversary edition cover and several others for the Pine Cone.

You all know Dora Hagemeyer, for over two decades our poetry editor, whose Christmas poem is anticipated as one of the special events of the season.

Kiplinger, who has resigned from the planning commission because the increasing burden of work makes too heavy demands on her energy.

Mrs. MacGregor is a member of the Carmel Art Association and "good at committee work" Mayor Horace Lyon pointed out. She has been a resident of Carmel for some years.

Gifts from Building Inspector Floyd Adams brightened the council's evening.

Planning Commission Wastes No Time Meeting Record Set

The Christmas angel hanging on the tape recorder receiver centering the Carmel Planning Commission table yesterday afternoon heard little business as the commission set a 28-minute time record for the meeting. Longest recording of the session was the munching of candy canes which each commission member and the press received as a Christmas present from Building Inspector Floyd Adams.

Continued until next meeting was the matter of the alteration of a window for display purposes in the Ocean Avenue building occupied by Gladys McCloud, pending a report from Comstock Associates in charge of replacing glass blocks with sheet glass.

The re-classification of Velma Craig's lots on the east side of Monte Verde Street between Fifth and Sixth Streets was held in abeyance until proposed new or-

Churches Aglow With Candles, Flowers Ready For Christmas Services

Special services will be held in all Carmel churches this Sunday and on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

A midnight solemn high mass will be celebrated in Carmel Mission by the Very Reverend Monsignor Michael D. O'Connell on Christmas Eve as it has been done for nearly two centuries.

Keith Evans Appointed New County Planner

Keith Evans has been appointed by the board of supervisors to the County Planning Commission this week on the remarks of retiring Supervisor Arch Balchin. He will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Thomas Elston. Mr. Evans has a long record of public service. He was elected to the city council in 1940, becoming Carmel's youngest mayor. He remained as mayor for a second term after the 1942 city elections, resigning to enter the army before his term was completed. Again in 1947 Evans returned to the city council when Mayor Fred Godwin asked him, after Mr. Frank Hefling's resignation, to complete Hefling's remaining term of one year.

Keith Evans was appointed a member of the Carmel Planning Commission in 1954 and became chairman on February 17, 1955. He resigned from the planning commission as he felt, at that time, he could not devote the necessary time to preparing a master plan for Carmel with Planning Consultant Lawrence Livingston Jr.

He does not remember when he first became a member of the Sanitary Board on which he continues to serve after many years.

Owner of property in Carmel, the Mission Tract and on Partington Ridge, and partner in the Plaza Fuel Company which he established in 1936, Mr. Evans is conversant with local problems and can ably represent this area on the County Planning Commission.

On Christmas morning five masses will be said in the Mission at 7:00, 8:00, 9:30, 11:00 and 12:15 o'clock.

All Saints' Episcopal Church, the Reverend Angus Dun Jr., rector, will have a special Christmas service on Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock for children and their parents, followed by a program in the Parish Hall when the Christmas Story will be narrated with pictures and music. Regular morning prayer will be at 11:00 o'clock.

The Christmas Eve Midnight Service at All Saints' will begin at 11:00 o'clock. Before the service, a program of carols will be given by both the Adult and Junior Choirs, starting at 10:15 o'clock.

On Christmas Day there will be a service of Holy Communion at All Saints' at 10:30 o'clock in the morning.

Carmel Presbyterian Church will have identical services on Sunday morning at 9:30 and 11:00 o'clock.

On Christmas morning at 10:00 o'clock Dr. Ewing will give the Christmas homily and there will be organ and vocal music.

A Children's Choir will begin both the 9:30 and 11:00 o'clock Christmas services at the Church of the Wayfarer on Sunday morning.

The Chapel Singers will follow in four selections from Handel's Messiah: And the Glory of God; Glory to God; Behold the Lamb of God; and the Hallelujah Chorus directed by John Farr who will also sing a baritone solo.

On Christmas Eve afternoon at 4:00 o'clock there will be a Christmas Communion Service.

The midnight Christmas Eve Service of Carols and Candles will start at 11:00 o'clock.

There will be no services Christmas Day at the Church of the Wayfarer.

THE SECRET GLORY

Again we gather from the shelf
The little creche in cellophane,
The Angel wrapped all by herself,
The tinsel and the silver rain.

Each time is sooner than the last—
The year is but a feathered thing—
The Christmases come crowding fast
Like shining birds upon the wing.

Ah let it never come about
That all the dear confusion tires!
The children rushing in and out,
The tinkling gifts by winter fires;

The tree that bears its magic fruit
At midnight in the leafless hours,
When hands are worn, yet resolute
Beyond their strength, like winter flowers;

The room all littered and aglow
With toys and bells and gathered boughs,
The brimming joy, the overflow,
The secret glory in the house!

Dear Wilma:

In all our wanderings, with a thousand and one things to absorb our attention, and not too much time for writing, we are always thinking of our friends at home in Carmel. We have just returned here from a visit to the Costa Brava (the Spanish Riviera) which followed our short visit to Palma, Mallorca, and tomorrow we go to Madrid and, after a four-day stop-over, start on a motor coach tour of Andalusia, which is sure to be too engrossing to permit of much letter writing. So we take this opportunity of dropping you a line to let you know that all's well with the "Carmel wanderers" and that we are still going strong. Christmas Concerts . . .

by Lindsay-Oliver

Monterey Peninsula College students were heard on Friday in their annual Christmas event. Johann Christopher Bach's charming Church Cantata, The Childhood of Christ, and Roy Ringwald's Song of Christmas comprised an interesting program, conducted by Harvey Marshall with Assistants Angie Machado at the piano and Mary Whitmer at an organ lent by the Graham Music House. The Cantata in the form of its day is by one of the sons of Johann Sebastian Bach and had places for five soloists from the choir who sang with good voices and understanding. These were Devon Hansen and Richard Knapp, tenors; Sue Sickafoose, soprano; Kenneth Gordon, bass; and Alice Sikes, mezzo-soprano. The miscellaneous chorus, making an interesting picture in their crimson gowns, delivered tone and attack under Marshall's baton, though the low roof of the hall is no ideal place for vocal sounds, but their good-natured enthusiasm led by the conductor carried off the import of the work.

Owing to a mishap, chimes which were to have been used in the finale delayed the start, but Mary Whitmer filled the interval in her resourcefulness after opening with two solos: Sleep Judea Fair by Hugh MacKennon and an arrangement of the Scotch carol, What Strangers Are These? by Richard Purvis. To the carol Miss Whitmer contributed a rugged characteristic lilt that was stirringly vital, and her playing, as well as that of Miss Machado, finely supported the whole program. Miss Machado, assistant to Dr. Marshall, has many choir rehearsal sals to her credit. Dr. Marshall had picked an interesting modern selection in The Song of Christmas, founded by the composer on a number of old and less old carols with Biblical statements which was well within the capacity of the voices, in short sections that did not tax endurance. Stephen Dirk as narrator told the story, aided by the soloists already mentioned, and two others, Buel Moore, bass; and Terry Wilson, tenor. At the end of performance, the audience joined the choir in singing several of the best known carols, applauded Dr. Marshall and the performers, and left with satisfaction for an inspiring evening.

An unusual number of groups will be out singing carols this week in the open for shut-ins and the public, which is all to the good at this time, with its meaning of Christmas toward the greatly desired peace of the world.

In Carmel, the Monterey Peninsula Mixed Chorus, conducted by John Farr, and sponsored by the Carmel Woman's Club, sang its Christmas Concert on Sunday to a small but enthusiastic audience. Divided into two sections of very old and little known songs, including a Silesian Cradle Song, the tuneful harmony was well handled by the group, making these old melodies most acceptable. In the Carol of the Birds, Kit Daniel's high soprano was effective. Betty Lamb's rich mezzo starred in Susannie, with tone and feeling, while Dr. William Coughlin substituting for Wallace Doolittle in the solo of the Gaelic carol, managed admirably. Gaelic is not pronounced as spelled, and is one of the most difficult languages in this respect, so that a rare feat was accomplished. Mr. Farr gave a translation before the singing. On the whole, the chorus produced a pleasing tone and responded thoroughly to the conductor's indications of dynamics and expression which he gave with true feeling. Nine songs were offered, which Peggie Aitkenhead accompanied well.

The conductor pleasantly urged the audience to join in the better known carols, suggesting to those shy of their voices it would make them "feel good." Indeed, those who missed the concert, missed a rewarding experience. While hot cider and cakes were being served, Mr. Farr was the recipient of a worthwhile Christmas gift from some of the singers, among them an almost unobtainable and very fine recording of a Tchaikowsky symphony.

In a mood of levity and general fun the Musical Art Club held its annual Christmas party Saturday in the new addition to the Abinante Music Store in Monterey, which proves to be a pleasing contribution to studio auditoriums on the Peninsula. Walls are hung with drapes from the high ceiling, with a corner stage holding two small grands and ample seating and lighting. It will probably serve many future intimate musical events. After a short business meeting, called to order by the president, a master of ceremonies (Continued on Page Fourteen)

STUDENTS SING CAROLS

Christmas carols in traditional and in modern form, including a group of instrumental numbers featuring the marimba, presented by the music groups of Carmel High School for the Wayfarer Woman's Auxiliary on Tuesday afternoon, received an enthusiastic response from the large attendance at the women's annual Christmas tea in the social room of the church. The program was directed by John W. Farr, head of the school's music department.

The groups performing were the large mixed choir, an orchestra nucleus, the girls' glee club and the boys' glee club, a new organization at the school. After the program the young people were served hot cider with sandwiches and cookies, while the adults had coffee if they wished, while they chatted with their young entertainers in a pleasant half hour.

Grays Now Have Four Children

Lieutenant and Mrs. Gordon Larimore Gray have two girls and two boys in their family since the arrival of Sheryl Elizabeth on December 6 at Fort Ord Hospital. The older Gray children are Larry, eight; Joan, six; and John, four years old. The family has been in Carmel since September when Lieutenant Gray began studies at the Line School at the Naval Postgraduate School. They will remain here until June and wish "it could be much longer." Sheryl Elizabeth's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gray of LaJolla, and Mrs. Theresa Twogood of Sacramento.

Dear Wilma:

To jump from the Caribbean to Florida and hence to Chicago is quite a jump. I wish I could remember that old classic poem, "Snow Bound" I think by Whittier, for that is just what I jumped into as I alighted from the plane in Chicago. I was thrilled to pieces. It is the first snow I have seen in 20 years. As we drove into the city and into Lincoln Park I was stunned to see nothing save deciduous trees, bare of green, stark and cold. Not one single green leaf. This city is in holiday mood which is something approaching hysteria. Oh yes, one can shop here if you don't get knocked down and trampled in the process. There is no such thing as courtesy in any large city.

The other day we drove up into Wisconsin and immediately I noticed the change in behavior. A slower and more courteous environment. The snow is beautiful, especially in the country, where it lies untrodden and pristine. It is so odd to me to bundle up and once again don galoshes and fur coats. Life is lived at a lively pace here. There is no running down to the corner for a spool of thread or a loaf of bread. Each necessity approaches a production and a trip down town requires more planning and headwork than we in Carmel do for a trip to San Francisco. The parking problem would seem an impossibility. Either my hostess is a genius; or the Chicago police are indulgent. All my hostess does is to hail the traffic officer at any corner, explain a necessity to go into a prohibited area. The officer will accompany the car, clear traffic and install her car in a prohibited area. This I think is remarkable.

My eyes are ever out for growing flora and to date, the only growing things I have seen are a few sickly African violets and potted ivy on windowsills and living room tables. My fingers itch to get at these sorry plants and bring them back to life.

My real joy was a trip to old

"How old am I?"

—asks Mrs. Louis Means,
341 Sunkist Lane, Los Altos

No doubt about it: The brightest decoration in many a home this Christmas will be Mother! Isn't it nice so many of today's mothers are so trim and youthful-looking?

One big reason is modern household appliances. They free women from heavy that used to rob them of their youthful beauty.

Take Mrs. Means: Mother of five, she leaves most of her hard work to labor-saving appliances. She's thirty-five.

Here's the beauty of it: With gas and electricity so cheap in California you can run a host of appliances all day for half the cost of most popular liquid make-ups.

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
O. Edward Graves
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

A friend of mine, an actuarial expert, in a recent lecture at the Cosmos Club in Washington, D.C. pointed out that if the population clock at the Department of Commerce should continue to tick at its present rate for the next 350 years — the time span between the settlement of Jamestown, Virginia, and the present — the population of this country would pass the 50 billion mark!

Seldom does anyone in planning for the preservation of unspoiled scenery have the courage to face this possibility. It is even very difficult to set the sights of any planning group — governmental or private — as far as 50 years ahead. Nevertheless a number of recent events, more or less related, are insistently calling attention to the need for a long-range solution of this problem.

On the national level most of our unspoiled scenery is to be found in the national park system, (Continued on Page Twelve)

LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

This library is suffering from an overdose of success; it might almost be said that we are surfeited by success. This success is that of the reserve book program which we initiated about a year and a half ago, and which has been growing with every passing week. Last Saturday, at our weekly staff meeting, we decided regretfully that we must declare a moratorium on reserve book proceedings. We have a back-log of some 5,250 names already on reserve cards and these will be processed just as they have been before our momentous decision. The weight of all that card writing has become too much for us. We are now averaging between 50 and 75 cards per day. If we were a very rich library, and could afford a "reserve book librarian" who would spend all her time addressing postal cards and putting little date labels on reserve books, all this activity would be possible and would work out very well, but we are not that rich.

Beginning with the new year, books will no longer be put on examination shelves to gather a waiting list. They will be added to the new book shelves near the circulation desk, and immediately go into circulation. Lists of new books will be provided, and the visible record file at the desk will give a complete new book picture to any interested person. Reserves will be taken on all new books. The patron will sign his name to the reserve card which will be kept at the desk. He will also buy a postal card at the same time and fill it out. When his name is next on the reserve card, we will mail his postal card, and save the book for the customary period. With this system a great deal of clerical work will be saved. So far as the library staff is concerned, the spirit was willing, but the flesh weakened.

For the last week of this year, the last week of examination privileges, the last fling at signing up willy-nilly, in fact for holiday week, all the new books are novels. Twelve of them! Four of the twelve are mysteries, so we won't discuss their plots. The Lock-

PADRES WIN CONSOLATION TROPHY

Carmel High's varsity basketball team clicked with smooth precision in the final two nights of the Gustine Rotary Club Tournament to win the consolation bracket of the San Joaquin hoop festival. The Padres drew a rough opponent for the opening night when host Gustine provided the opposition. The swift Indians topped the local preps, 61 to 54, and went on to win their own tournament in convincing fashion. Led by Dwight Davenport, one of the finest all-around athletes in the San Joaquin Valley, Gustine jumped to a big first quarter lead which was too much for the Padres to overcome. Carmel came back strong during the next three quarters and played the eventual champions on even terms. Clyde Klaumann picked up 17 points to lead the Padre scorers. The fine floor play of Charley and Dale Dawson coupled with an outstanding rebound job by Bill Hicks made the red and gray squad look like a real hoop squad the last three quarters.

Carmel drew the Hilmar Yellow jackets for the second night's play and broke to an early lead with Clyde Klaumann scoring off the break for several baskets. Dale Dawson posted 12 points in this one to top the Carmel scorers. Brother Charley was close behind the fast-improving sophomore, dropping through 11 markers from his right guard position. The Hilmar squad was "cold" in the first half but came with a rush in the final quarter to finish up on the short end of a 48-40 score. By defeating Hilmar, the Padres qualified for the Consolation finals.

In Saturday night's Consolation finals, the Padres threatened to make a runaway of the game as they posted a 17-point lead in the first quarter. However, the scrappy LeGrand aggregation enjoyed some "hot" outside shooting in the third quarter and closed the gap to eight points when the fourth period started. Midway of the final quarter, LeGrand spurred to close the gap to 40-36 and threatened to pull the game out of the fire. However, Charley Dawson and Clyde Klaumann chipped in with a pair of field goals to put the Padres out of reach and give them the Consolation trophy.

Presentation of awards at the conclusion of the tournament found Dwight Davenport, Gustine's great playmaker, winning the most valuable player trophy. This lad is a great hoop artist and Carmel fans will enjoy watching him when Gustine comes to the Carmel tournament on March 7. Charley Dawson, Carmel's senior guard, was selected for the All-tournament team and received the consolation trophy for the Carmel squad.

The Carmel traveling squad which enjoyed the hospitality and friendship of the Gustine people consisted of Don Smith, Joe Mason, Charley Dawson, Fred Bruggeman, Bill Wallace, Bill Hicks, Jim Bannerman, Clyde Klaumann, Bob Durbrow, Phil Durbrow, and Art Wilkerson.

THROUGH THE HOOP

Basketball action will be available for all ages during the Christmas vacation period with the high school gymnasium being open nearly all hours of the day. In the mornings from 9:00 to 12:00 o'clock, elementary school boys will have an opportunity to get in their workouts and play a few games. High school students will have priority during the period from 1:00 to 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon, while the evening hours from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock will be reserved for the college and alumni group. Recreation Director Bill Wakefield will have instructions and officials at the gymnasium so all participants will have plenty of opportunity to play.

An Alumni Tournament, featuring past Carmel High School basketball stars and this year's varsity, will be held at the high school gym this Friday and Saturday night. Under the direction of Henry Overin, the tournament will have entries from the classes of '52, '53, '54, '56 and the current varsity. Friday night's action will find the class of 1956 meeting the current Padre varsity at 7:00 o'clock with the combined classes of '53 and '54 tangling with the class of '52 at 8:15 o'clock. Creaking a little and bulging slightly around the middle, such former stars as Bobby Updike, Don Canham, Stu Emery, Jerry Colman, Henry Overin, Lanny Doolittle, and a host of other former Padres will take their shots at the hoop.

Upsets in the B division of the Coast Counties Athletic League makes the basketball race a wide open affair with any school in the league a threat for the title. Only undefeated team at this stage of the league play is Bob Hagen's Gilroy aggregation which has topped pled Live Oak, King City, and Hollister. Pacific Grove, league favorite, was rudely upset by Live Oak and King City, and will now have to scramble with the rest of the teams and take a run at Gilroy. Surprise team in the league has been the Hollister Haybalers who figure to knock over some of the top ones as the season progresses. Gonzales looked good beating the Carmel Padres and will be hard to handle when some of the green hands begin to help the veterans. Carmel has dropped a pair of league games but the team began to jell at the Gustine tournament and may surprise the second time around. Top player in the league seems to be Gilroy's Julian Aguilar who is leading all rebounders and has been scoring big for the Mustangs. Live Oak's lightweight squad seems a cinch to cop the limited title as they have a veteran squad back from last season and have romped to easy wins in their first three outings.

Carmel basketball fans will have an opportunity to see one of the most crowd-pleasing teams in Northern California perform when the Gustine Indians take the floor in the Carmel Tournament. Equipped with blazing speed, excellent passers, and extremely accurate shooters, coach Jerry Hedlind's stars scored over 60 points in each game they played during the Gustine tourney.

Padre Trails' New Officers

The Padre Trails Camera Club Saturday night at LaPlaya Hotel installed new 1957 officers and presented awards in both black and white and color photography.

Gala Breakfast at Woods

Sixteen teachers, entire faculty of Woods and River School, breakfasted together Tuesday morning in the Woods Cafeteria. Mrs. Bertha Anderson and Mrs. Clifford LeNeve prepared ham and eggs menu, topped off with pastries with the Scandinavian touch, which is Mrs. Anderson's special talent.

Guests of the teachers were custodians of the schools, Mr. Alfred Rico and Mr. James Dixon; also School Superintendent Stuart Mitchell and his clerical staff (who now have their office at Woods) Miss Barbara Sapsis and Mrs. Irene Mezger.

ridges have one entitled The Faceless Adversary. Margaret Scherf wrote The Cautious Overshoes, and E. X. Ferrars has done one called We Haven't Seen Her Lately. Both of these are Crime Club books and were well reviewed. Then there is a collection of mystery stories by Stanley Ellin which is briefly entitled Mystery Stories. So much for crime, which pays when you are writing about it.

Helen Rucker has a new book, entitled Cargo of Brides. It is the story of Marianna Bancroft, who went with a shipload of brides for the men of the Pacific northwest in the 1860's. Part of the story takes place in early San Francisco. Another historical novel is Hangman's Cliff by Robert Neill. This story is laid in England in the 1780's and is about a man who was hanged because he might have murdered another man. He might, that is. The third historical in this week's fiction galaxy is laid in Italy in the thirteenth century. It is Warden of the Smoke Bells, by Richard Llewellyn. Through these pages stalks Marco Polo, and with him Princess Na-Nou, the daughter of the Great Khan.

A present-day novel of Burma, and the problems growing out of the war marriages there are the basis for Ethel Mannin's The Living Lotus. Another novel of the east is Canton Barrier by Andrew Geer. This is an adventure story telling of the struggle for survival during the Communists southward sweep into Canton. For those who enjoy a simple story with some mystery, we have the latest Emilie Loring, which is called What Then Is Love?

Virginia Rowans has used in gimmick in her new novel The Loving Couple. The action all takes place during one day, the day which followed a violent quarrel which precipitated a girl named Mary and her husband, John, into a separation and a contemplated divorce. The gimmick is that both of them tell their stories in separate halves of the book. You may begin at either cover and read toward the middle. The stories are bound back to back. It's fun, in a way. Merry Christmas to all of you, from the entire staff of the Harrison Memorial Library. And may your New Year be full of books!

Conservation . . .

in certain portions of our national forests, and in the wildlife refuges. On the state level California has blazed the trail with a set of standards for state parks that are practically the same as those that are unofficially acknowledged to apply to our national park system, though certain very powerful interests in the state are now engaged in a strenuous attempt to break the standards down to the level of local recreation grounds. A few other states are beginning to follow California's lead and there is some hope for the future there.

On the national level the question has been frequently asked in recent years whether a satisfactory agreement could be reached between those planners who feel that the enjoyment of unspoiled scenery should be the paramount issue in policy making and those groups who favor commercial development up to the limit of the voters' patience. In the national parks it involves such matters as the advertising of concessioners and other near-by business interests to attract huge crowds for purposes not fundamental to the preservation of the natural landscape. In the national forests it becomes a tug-of-war between, on the one hand, commercial users of the forests, and on the other hand the millions of free-spending fishermen and hunters and motorists in search of outstanding scenery. In the wildlife refuges it is a question at present mainly of oil leases and the demands of the military for more training grounds.

As a result of all this recent pulling and hauling proposals are being made more and more frequently for a sensible long-range solution of the problem in the interests of "the greatest good for the greatest number in the long run", to quote a favorite policy of the Forest Service established by Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson in the first decade of this century. The phrase, "in the long run", is the important consideration in these recent proposals.

Two such proposals about which more may be heard soon are (1) a Scenic Resources Review, comparable to the Timber Resources Review of the Forest Service but looking forward even farther into the future; and (2) a kind of "Hoover Commission" to straighten out the tangled threads of the management of our scenic resources and to unify the approach to the solution of this problem, so important to our national welfare over the coming centuries.

Will The Dress Blues Fit? Kippy Writes On Post Party

Fort Sheridan, where I lived with my parents as a young girl. Sheridan is a genuine old Army garrison, one of the few that is not marred by cantonments and war-time buildings. The post is exactly as it was years ago. It was an experience to step into my old home on MacArthur Loop at Sheridan, where now my own family are living. My niece and her husband, who is an Army Colonel, are living in the same set of quarters.

This coming Saturday is going to be a major event for me, a traditional Army Christmas reception at Sheridan. Just as in my Army days, wives are hustling up and down officer's row, donating this and that for the gala occasion, agreeing and disagreeing on buffet and decorations. One wife will donate a silver dish, another a damask cloth, but the real excitement is the ukase that all officers shall appear in "dress blues." While this appears to be in the men's department, it is the wives who must do the suffering. Moth balls must be aired out, blues must be pressed, and the awful consternation is, "Will my husband be able to button his 'blues'?" As the tired officers return from Fifth Army Headquarters, wanting only to rest and let down, wives order "Attention!" All along officer's row patient (and impatient) husbands suffer while buttons are removed and seams let out. Then off to the tailor for pressing go the "blues." No debutante was ever so anxious and worried over results as the wives of Fort Sheridan are this week end, are over their husband's appearance.

Last evening we went far into the country, knowing full well that weather reports were "snow... snow... and more snow." The white mass began to fall like a gleaming cloud, and there we were in a car far from home. Friends we were visiting were alarmed and tried to persuade us to remain the night. My hostess just smiled, and remarked, "has it occurred to any of you that I have lived my entire life in Chicago? We'll get home all right..." and we did!

Lucy King

Mrs. Lucy L. King died on Monday morning in a Salinas hospital from a cerebral hemorrhage. She was born in Walnut Creek 65 years ago and for the past three years, with her husband Charles C. King, had lived at the lower gate of Rancho San Carlos in Carmel Valley. Her brother-in-law George King is manager of the ranch.

Survivors, besides her husband, are two sons, Harold C. King of San Leandro and Albert W. King of Oakland; and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday in the Grant D. Miller Mortuary in Oakland with burial in the Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno.

New Realty Board Officers

Leo Tanous was elected president of the Carmel Board of Realtors at a luncheon meeting of the group in Tom's Cafe on Friday. Serving with Tanous during the coming year will be Jim Mustard, vice president; Mildred Dear, secretary; and Peggy Porter Marguard, treasurer.

Directors chosen for a one-year term were Irene Baldwin and Richard Catlin. Two-year director's terms will be served by Louis Conlan, Enos Fouratt and Jim Mustard.

Sam-Patti's Opens In Former Location Of Gene and Parvins

Carmel's newest restaurant, Sam-Patti's, will open Saturday, December 22, in the premises occupied formerly by Gene and Parvin. Proprietors are Mrs. Erma Zampatti and Mrs. Kathleen Samuels. Home cooked food, and home-made cakes, pastries and desserts will be served, with breakfast, luncheon, afternoon tea and dinner offered.

Mrs. Samuels has been assistant manager of Holiday Inn on Carmel Point, and previously she was connected with The Brigstock Restaurant in London. She has a daughter, Sue, 14.

Mrs. Zampatti, before the death of her husband, Steve, operated the Scotch Bakery in Pacific Grove for a number of years.

Mrs. Zampatti has a son, Robert, an ensign in Officer's Training School in Georgia, and a married daughter, Gloria Bruno, who lives with her husband in Hollywood. The Zampatti family has been Monterey Peninsula residents for close to 50 years. At the time of his death in 1947, Steve Zampatti donated the corneas of his eyes to a blinded veteran of World War II, which resulted in sight for the recipient.

Mrs. Samuels and Mrs. Zampatti plan to add Italian dishes to their menus once Sam-Patti's is under way.

Paintings by Carmel Art Association members will be displayed on the walls of the premises.

Christmas Concerts...

(Continued from Page Six) called upon various members who performed not "wisely or well" but cleverly and grotesquely as travesty on musical art, using horns, piano, violin, voice, readings, etc., which generated much laughter. A Christmas tree received the many small gifts brought and were later distributed to each. Christmas carols were seriously sung by all, and the evening finished with punch and cakes from a decorated side table. Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Abinante on their studio auditorium.

Carmel High School Choir with their director John Farr toured Carmel in a school bus on Wednesday afternoon, stopping to sing carols at the homes of shut-in persons. They also caroled for the patients at the Peninsula Community Hospital.

High Twelve Luncheon

Carmel High Twelve Club will hold its weekly luncheon tomorrow at noon in Cypress West Dining Room. Dr. E. Leigh Mudge will present an appropriate Christmas program. All regular Masons are invited to attend.

From Barcelona Former City Clerk Sends Best Wishes

Happy Christmas and a prosperous New Year. Will you please convey the Season's Greetings to all our friends in Carmel to whom we are unable this year to send a personal card.

Our plans are being altered somewhat by the uncertainties of world conditions and gas rationing in particular, which will prevent us from using our car on the continent and compel us to leave it stored in England, in the hope of being able to use it again when we return there in the spring—and carry on without it through Spain, France, Belgium and Holland. It has turned out to be a wonderful adventure and so far we have seen a great deal of Europe. The weather in northern Spain has been cold, and we are looking forward to warmer weather in southern Spain, with the prospect of going as far south as the Canary Islands, which we are told are ideal through the winter months.

We hope that all is well with you and our friends at home. We often meet fellow travelers who know Carmel—people from many countries—and they all share our enthusiasm for it and think we are very lucky to belong there.

We have a pretty general idea of the status of the master plan studies and can well imagine the problem they present for the City Administration and the Planning Commission.

Till we return, however, we must try to possess our souls in patience, to learn the final outcome of it all, hoping and believing, the while, that much good will come from the studies, because of the time and effort so willingly given by so many fine people.

And now, with renewed good wishes and the compliments of the Season to all.

Yours very sincerely,
Lucie and Peter Mawdsley

Constance Campbell Married

Constance Campbell, daughter of Mrs. Robinson Campbell of Pebble Beach and Mr. Robert Warren Campbell of Monterey, was married on Saturday afternoon to Everard Pattison Larned by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray in the Church of the Wayfarer. The altar was decorated for the wedding with white stock, snapdragons and chrysanthemums, holly and redwood boughs. Redwood garlands caught on the ends of the pews with clusters of white flowers marked the center aisle and the window boxes along the side aisles were banked with white flowers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an Empire style silk taffeta gown with a yoke of rosepoint lace. Fulness was centered at the sides and back of the skirt and her rosepoint lace veil extended over the cathedral train. Her bouquet was an arrangement of lilies of the valley and gardenias. Mrs. Gerald Lanning (Joan Daniels) of New York was matron of honor and Irene Rogers of San Francisco and Mrs. Victor Martin of Hillsborough were bridesmaids. They were dressed alike in mint green taffeta frocks. Mrs. Lanning carried a muff of holly leaves with clusters of white flowers and the bridesmaids muffs of white carnations.

Victor Martin of Hillsborough was best man and ushers were the bride's brother, Robert Campbell Jr. of Inglewood; Lawrence Dunham and W. John Campbell of San Francisco; and Harry A. Orrick of Ross.

Mrs. Campbell attended her daughter's wedding in a ballerina length antique gold chiffon and taffeta dress with matching hat and a corsage of brown slipper orchids.

Mrs. Larned, mother of the groom, chose a gray lace gown trimmed in American Beauty, a gray chiffon hat and an orchid corsage.

The wedding reception was in the library and card room at Del Monte Lodge where the bridal party greeted the guests before a background of redwood bough arches tied with clusters of white flowers. Two seven-foot Christmas trees trimmed with snowballs and white flowers were placed at each side of the fireplace. The many tiered wedding cake, with five branch candelabra at either side, was served from a table covered with a white silk cloth over an underskirt of embroidered Swiss organdy and garlanded with redwood boughs tied with gardenias. The champagne table on the terrace was decorated with small green trees and white flowers and green wreaths were placed about the rooms.

The bride is a graduate of Carmel High School and Vassar College and, until her marriage, was a teacher at Sarah Dix Hamlin School in San Francisco.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Charles W. Larned of Baltimore, Maryland, and the late Dr. Larned. He is a graduate of Johns Hopkins University and is now district manager, metal products division, Koppers Company Incorporated, in San Francisco where the couple will live when they return from a honeymoon in Mexico City and Acapulco.

Christmas At The Williams

Henry Williams is arriving home on the Del Monte on Saturday night from Richmond, Virginia, where he has been on a writing assignment. Meeting him will be his wife Mona and daughter Lacy. Tradition in the Williams family is to open the presents under the tree on Christmas night. Sharing the excitement with them this year, as well as a buffet dinner, will be Henry's mother and brother, Mrs. Jesse Lynch Williams and Lyn; Mona's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Conway, and their three sons, Cim, Pete and Scott. Opening presents for the first time this year will be the Williams' small granddaughter, Jessica, who will be helped by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bryant. Only member of the family absent from the Christmas night party will be Chris, the Williams' son, who is stationed with the Army in Heidelberg, Germany.

Biz And Dick Due Here

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Perkins and son Sabin of Manhattan Beach will spend the Christmas to New Year holiday in Carmel with Mrs. Perkins' mother and grandmother, Mrs. Virginia Carr and Mrs. Marion Karr.

Christmas At Sea

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Cronwall and their two children, Nancy and Brian, both River school students, will celebrate Christmas at sea on the way to Hawaii. They will also greet the new year aboard ship on their return journey to Carmel. They leave on the Lurline today, plan to be in Honolulu four days, and visit Hilo before leaving the Islands. Also taking the Hawaiian Christmas cruise will be Mr. Cronwall's father, Edward C. Cronwall of Chicago and Merrill D. Cronwall of Sonoma, brother of Mr. Cronwall.

Andrew Hudson Paul Born

Santa Claus will visit three children in the family of Lieutenant and Mrs. Milton Paul this Christmas as Andrew Hudson joined the family on December 11 in the Peninsula Community Hospital. Also leaving stockings for Santa to fill will be three-year-old Stuart and two-year-old Jennifer. Assisting Santa will be the children's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Bedell, who have come from Brookside, New York, to welcome Andrew and stay for the holidays. Mr. and Mrs. John Covert of Silver Creek, New York, are Andrew's other grandparents.

Lieutenant Paul brought his family to Carmel a year and a half ago when he began guided missile study at the Naval Postgraduate School. They will remain here until Lieutenant Paul has completed a three year's assignment.

Connie Arrives Friday

When Connie Nielsen arrives in San Francisco on Friday from Stephens College in Missouri she will be met by her mother, Mrs. Walter Nielsen and her youngest sister, Penny, who are traveling to the city by train that morning and returning the same evening with Connie. Sitting around the Nielsen's Christmas table will be the four children, Connie, Nancy, Greg and Penny, and Mrs. Nielsen's mother, Mrs. Fannie Hall.

Nancy Lee Joins Family

Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. Carl Wiesendanger added a fourth child, Nancy Lee, to their family on December 11 at the Peninsula Community Hospital. "Paying a lot of attention" to their new little sister are the older Wiesendanger children, Karleen, 11; Barbara, eight; and Freddie, six years old.

Commander Wiesendanger is attending the Line School at the Naval Postgraduate School and completes his studies in June. Grandparents of the new baby are Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Reeves of San Diego, and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Field of Vale, Oregon.

Planning Commission Wastes No Time

Finance re-zoning of the area is established. Under the new zoning ordinance the Craig property is removed from residence to transitional (multiple dwelling). The owner wishes to build a multiple dwelling on her property. Her attorney, Malcolm Millard, stated in a letter that his client was willing to await new ordinance possible re-zoning rather than ask that her property be changed from the residence zone to commercial zoning at present.

City Clerk Larry Rose was authorized by commission members to send a letter to the County Planning Commission embodying the Public Improvements Committee report that the proposed new Highway One route alignment follow the route on the proposed master plan, rather than the route suggested by the State.

Mrs. Dora Comstock showed other commission members the map of Canberra, Australia, which she had sent at her request. The Canberra circular city plan will be placed in the planning commission library.

The resignation of Mrs. Gladys Kiplinger was acknowledged, minutes approved and with a smile of satisfaction each commissioner voted to adjourn the meeting and establish a record.

Then the commission went into study session on aerial maps for Carmel, and the possible acquisition of the Crawford beach land with committee reports to be given later on both subjects — and finished the candy canes.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON
Christ Jesus' dominion over materialism will be brought out at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Scriptural readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christ Jesus" will include the following from Matthew (15:30): "And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy includes the following (482:19): "Jesus was the highest human concept of the perfect man. He was inseparable from Christ, the Messiah,—the divine idea of God outside the flesh. This enabled Jesus to demonstrate his control over matter. Angels announced to the Wisemen of old this dual appearing, and angels whisper it, through faith, to the hungering heart in every age."

wholly insufficient and of such poor and antiquated calibre as to discourage renters whether local or traveling.

4. That the entire auditorium, for continued use for civic and cultural functions is sorely in need of paint and freshening.

Assuming that repairs or replacements had been made, dimmers number three and four were made ready for use during a dress rehearsal of the ballet, but upon being plugged in shot smoke and flames, proving them unfit and dangerous, and necessitating an immediate trip to San Francisco for substitute dimmers in order that the show could proceed on schedule.

Footlights on the Sunset stage have been removed, according to school authorities, because they had been broken by children walking on them. Ordinarily, a protective covering for footlights is a part of all stage equipment.

Considering the above mentioned lacks and inadequacies of the Sunset plant, the present rental fee of $120 per day, plus roughly $30 per day for equipment, and an additional $100 per day for substitutional and additional lighting, making a total of $250 per day shows itself to be out of line with other Peninsula auditorium fees.

If I may call your attention to the record: The Nutcracker Ballet was staged November 19 at the Salinas High School Auditorium. For an overall cost of $50, the plant was offered in immediately usable condition, with velvet drapes, an ample bank of spot light, a three man stage crew and stage supervisor. The Santa Cruz Civic Auditorium, where the Nutcracker Ballet was presented December 17, was offered at a cost of $87 for footlights, spot lights, traveling spots and dimmers, velvet curtains, four Union stage hands and a seating capacity of 2,500.

Against these fees and equipment made available, the cost of Sunset Auditorium appears unreasonable, and I would appreciate adjustment by the board, not only in the case of the Carmel Ballet Academy, for which it was expressly not understood that separate and complete charges were to be made for afternoon and evening performances, but also for traveling performers who will use the auditorium and who will expect to rent the plant for a stated number of hours to include time needed to set up and take down equipment as well as overall showing time.

As a Carmel resident, and as a producer, and auditorium renter, may I earnestly suggest:

1. That the board take immediate action to keep all children off the Sunset stage until such time as the previously noted safety measures are met.

2. That a stage director be hired, to be in full charge and responsible for all equipment, the safety and orderliness of the Sunset stage. In this instance, may I recommend Reed Putnam, a Monterey Peninsula College freshman who has had two years of excellent experience, and has shown a more than competent knowledge of stage craft. He also has the physical stamina needed for such work.

An alternate suggestion is that a course in stage craft be included in the drama classes at Carmel High School so that a stage crew and supervisor could be made available for all Sunset performances.

3. That prompt steps be taken to regulate the rental fee of Sunset auditorium, and to provide for the refurbishing and improvement of the plant to make it worthy of the talent that depends on it, and to make it worthy of the City of Carmel.

Because Carmel is our town and Sunset is our auditorium, if adjustment can be reached on the rental fees, I would like, on behalf of the Carmel Ballet Academy to set the ball rolling by donating the first $100 toward what it is hoped can soon be enlarged to an adequate sum to make Sunset auditorium a representative plant for such a city as Carmel.

Staff Sgt. Tom Silvear Home From Okinawa

When the aircraft carrier USS Lexington arrived at Alameda Naval Base early Monday morning, waiting dockside were Karen Silvear and her two children, Brian and Adrienne, to greet Marine Staff Sgt. Tom Silvear, who has come home on a 30-day leave after nine months on Okinawa. Also on hand was Tommy's mother, Mrs. Edwin Silvear, of Point Lobos. They had all driven up on Sunday to San Lorenzo where they spent the night with Karen's sister, Mrs. A. Carol McKenney Jr., and her family.

Tom has been stationed with the Third Marine Division on Okinawa, riding out two typhoons during his stay. His company was chosen to demonstrate landing operations for the Thai government, during the recent visit of Marine Commandant, General Pate to Bangkok. Following his leave he will return to Okinawa until March and then wait reassignment.

The young Silvears will help Karen's mother, Mrs. Julian von Meier, celebrate Christmas, and will be joined for the week end by the junior McKenneys (Kathie von Meier) and their three children, Erin, Carol and Gael, and by Kurt von Meier, who will be down from Cal for the Christmas holiday.

Helen Seares Married

The marriage of Helen Seares and James W. A. Smith took place on December 11 in La Jolla in Mary Star-of-the-Sea Church. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are now back in Carmel after a few days in Coronado and Santa Barbara. Mrs. Smith is the manager of the Pebble Beach Cabbages and Kings shop; Mr. Smith has an insurance business in Monterey.

Mr. Smith is the father of Don Smith, senior at Carmel High School, and newly commissioned Ensign Douglas Smith who has just finished Navy officers' training in Newport, Rhode Island. After Christmas with friends in New York, Doug will report to Navy Supply School in Athens, Georgia, for six months additional training. He is a last June graduate of Stanford University.

Spend Christmas In South

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Work Jr. will spend Christmas in Coronado with their son-in-law and daughter, Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. Ted R. Fielding. After Christmas the Works will travel in Mexico with Mrs. Work's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril S. George of Berkeley, before returning home to Pebble Beach.

Yule Party At The Edwards

Principal Warren Edwards and Mrs. Edwards invited the personnel of Carmel High School and their spouses to a Christmas party on Sunday afternoon. Seventy persons gathered in the Edwards' living room under the pine garlanded beams. Bunches of holly arranged with ornaments were also used as decorations and a Christmas tree sparkled from the top of the piano. Mulled wine, punch, Christmas cookies and fruit cake were served to the guests from a holly adorned table. Assisting their parents in entertaining the guests were Bill and Peggy Edwards.
